

Aloha

Designed by former tour surfer Richie Lovett, the Stryka is a modern fish that captures the feel and performance of a contemporary shortboard. Key shortboard elements have been adapted to a suit additional width through the centre and tail that serves to generate fast acceleration in weak surf, while still maintaining the rail-to-rail sensitivity and response of a much narrower board.

An overall reduction in the forward and aft rocker profiles further enhances the board's speed, especially in substandard waves. The single flyer and swallowtail combination provides the boards pivotal and holding characteristics in hollow surf.

The Stryka is a truly versatile craft that will complement any quiver. This model comes with a tri-quad fin configuration allowing it to be set up as a thruster or a quad.
